A Well Ordered Family. A writer in Blackwood's Magazine thus describes the tolerable oppression of living in a family, governed by milies; it was a great punishment to me; I hope, also. some degree, to my entertainers. The iron rule of hat house was, 'a place for everything, and everything in its place.' I wasn't. The disgrace my somewhat vagrant habits led me into was dreadful. The very first norning, I opened paterfamilias's newspaper, which was always laid in one familiar spot upon the breakfast table, never to be violated by any hands but his. There I stood, with my back to the fire, conning the outspread heets, and nodding a cheerful good morning to my host. when he entered. I had the hardihood even to read to him (out of his own paper!) the last Indian dispatchvery politely, as I thought—and to request his assistance decipher the possible place intended by a dozen letters which the telegraph clerk appeared to have selected at random. To do him justice, he bore this inroad on his ights with tolerably outward composure; but I was formally made aware, on the first opportunity, by Mrs. P. of the outrage I had committed, and made to feel as promfortable as I deserved. Then I left my handkerchief on the drawing room floor, one glove on the libratable, another in the governess' parasol, (which, certainly, was not the place for it, and how it got there I have no conception,) and was formally presented with ach article separately, and an account of its discovery, in he presence of the whole family assembled for dinner.

One day, the whole household was under strict crossramination as to who had come into the drawing-room with dirty shoes. I was the culprit, of course, but I was too great a coward to confess; besides, the lady knew entertain the fiction that such conduct was impossible hildren or the housemaids, of course; and the whole investigation was intended for my solemn warning and improvement, just as they used to whip a little boy vicariously to strike terror into misbehaving little princes. Then the terrible punctuality which made slaves of us all, and kept me always looking at my watch, and always afraid of being late for something, as indeed, I was once for dinner, in spite of all precaution-four minutes and a half exactly. Shall I ever forget it? If they only had had the charity to sit down quietly without sonal agent of the Queen of Spain, has been in this counme—if they had put me off with no soup, cold fish, and try for a twelve-month, and that there have been several the last ragged cut of the mutton—if they had sent me meetings between him and the President. LATER FROM KINGSTON, JA .- We are indebted to the courtesy of Captain Nelson, of the brig Eliza, arrived at this port on Friday, 11th inst., from Kingston, Ja., for copies of Jamaica papers of the 26th January. They contain later and important news from Hayti, a summary of which will be found in another column. Ex-Emperor Solouque arrived at Kingston on the 22d of January, on board the British steamer Melbourne, from Port-au-Prince, a fugitive, accompanied by a wife and daughters, and some of the officers of his late government. The American steam ship Washington, Captain Welch, from New York via Aspinwall, with 265 passengers, put into Aspinwall, and learning that the Pacific steamer Hermann had not arrived at Panama, she was compelled to leave for Greytown, where she landed stores and fifteen of her passengers, and there not being any steamer to connect with the Pacific ports, she would proceed to San Francisco via the Brazils. The steam ship Rattler, Capt. Rutherford, was to sail from Kingston for Liverpool via New York on Saturday, January 29.

From DeCordova's Mercantile Intelligencer, we have extracted some commercial items of interest. The importations of flour for the week ending January 24 had reached 1808 barrels, and of rice 1861 bags. No transactions in Carolina rice are reported. Sales of East India at 14s. 6d. a 15s., and Patna at 17 a 18s. Flour had been moving freely. Sales reported at from 36s. to 38s., and holders asking higher rates, the stocks being very light. It would be difficult to arrive at a correct estimate of the actual fighting material at the disposal of the War Department; but we presume, the entire strength of our army is little over or under 16,000. The Register shows the grand aggregate of the militia, all told, to be 2,724,-

The United States steam frigate Susquehannah was as the desire seems to be on all hands to finish her as soon as possible. The steamers-of-war Niagara, Susquebannah, Hartford, Lancaster, San Jacinto, Richmond, and four or five not yet named, are being got ready for service at the different navy stations with the utmost celerity, and we hear a rumour that several sailing vessels on foreign squadrons will, before next July, be replaced by the above named.

On Tuesday next the new steam gunboat, which has been under way for some time at Boston, will be launchare entertained.

The uniform of the United States Marine Corps is to be changed. One of the first acts of the new commandant, Col. Harris, on taking chief control of the sea-soldiers, was to demonstrate to Mr. Toucey the very unbecoming dress of the marines. 'The Colonel got two "gray backs" rigged up-one in the old uniform, the other in a new style-and marched them up to the Secretary, who unhesitatingly gave his preference to the latter .- N. Y.

In all Nervous, Rheumatic, and Neuralgic Affections, it has in numerous instances proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a decided cure. This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on strictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Borhave. Because of its great success in most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those of our fatherland scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them, I now

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Centrifugal Museovado at 7 reals, with a cash advance of $30,000; 2000 boxes very good quality for which $25 $3 box had been paid, were purchased by a Spanish house at $26 $2 box. A fair demand also existed for Sugars on the spot upon the basis of 91 a 10 reals 32 arrobe. Since then the spirit of speculation led to a further advance of a full & real Parrobe beyond the last mentioned rates. More recently, however, "reason" appears "to have resumed her sway," and 10 a 101 reals arrobe is the present current rate for D. S. Number 12, other numbers upon that basis, and I anticipate, ere long, a further decline in rates. The stock to-day, between here and Matanzas, is about 65,000 boxes. Muscovados have partaken of the state of excitement that has existed, and are now held at 84 a 9 reals @ arrobe for good quality. Molasses, coming in slimly; has prevented any large transaction.
